

Call for Editors

SPC is seeking passionate members of the Sport Physio community to join in the role of Editor to review articles and write up summaries for the evidence-based review in Sports Medicine, The Review. The candidate would be working with a partner; with each pair being responsible for one review per year. The Review is published on the SPC website and the SPC membership is notified of each edition via email and social media.

The goal of The Review is to help disseminate information down from research to practice to help members remain current and informed in their clinical decision making. The Review will be a quarterly publication providing an overview of research published on a particular topic, drawn from article(s) and/or systematic review(s) found in the British Journal of Sports Medicine.

The candidate will be one of eight reviewers across Canada. The candidate and their partner will be responsible for one review annually. The role of the Editor will be to liaise with your partner, Media Content Editor and the Chief Editors to aid in the completion of the edition. Duties may include, but are not limited to, assisting with topic selection, reviewing article(s), writing up a review, doing interactive/clinically applicable photos/videos, communication with team and Chief Editor.

The candidate should have experience & special interest in research with understanding and skill in critical appraisal. All candidates will be considered; however, preference will be given to those with one or more of the following qualifications:

- Research based Masters
- PhD (or PhD Candidate)
- Doctorate of Physical Therapy
- FCAMPT with successful completion of the mandatory Research Methods course
- Clinical Masters in Advanced Orthopedics (MCISc or equivalent)

Interested candidates should submit a copy of their resume and a brief summary (in the body of the email) addressing why they are interested in this role and what makes them a suitable candidate considering the outline provided above.

Please email all submissions to ontario@sportphysio.ca , ATTN: Jovana Smoljanic
Thank you in advance for your cooperation and interest in The Sports Review.
